??????? WHO SAID THAT ???

"The absence of significant progress in the field of disarmament has aroused considerable concern particularly among newly emergent nations. The arms race continues unabated involving a staggering expenditure. If even a fraction of this could be diverted for development, it could alter the situation substantially to the advantage of the developing world."

— Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Minister of External Affairs, India

"The defense policy of the French government is . . . based on three principles: inalienable independence of our nuclear means; freedom of decision to use our forces; loyalty to the Atlantic Alliance."

— Pierre-Christian Taittinger, Secretary of State to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, France

"The German Federal Government has followed with satisfaction positive developments since the beginning of this decade in the area of reuniting families. Bonn hopes the Soviet Government will continue to take an open-minded, constructive attitude towards this important humanitarian matter."

— Gunther van Well, State Secretary in the Foreign Office, Federal Republic of Germany
